V Cerkev na Slovenskem ob KRIŠTOFOVI NEDELJI blagoslovimo vozila in zbiramo darove v ta namen. Krištofovo nedeljo bomo obhajali 22. julija.

Ustanova MIVA – Slovenija deluje v okviru Misijonskega središča Slovenije in je članica svetovne MIVE ter že dve desetletji zbira sredstva za prevozna sredstva v misijonskih deželah. Večji del zbranih sredstev namenijo za potrebe slovenskih misijonarjev, vsako leto pa poskrbijo tudi za vozilo za potrebe neslovenskega misijonarja.

Neizmerna hvaležnost naših misijonarjev, ki z vozili, katerih nakup omogočijo dobrotniki s svojo darežljivostjo, zmorejo bolje in lažje vršiti svoje poslanstvo v oddaljenih krajih, v nemogočih razmerah, v pomoči bolnikom, šolarjem, učiteljem, lačnim.

Misijonar piše: »Preden človeku spregovorim o evangeliju, ga moram pobrati iz blata, ker sam nima moči, da bi vstal. Moram ga umiti in vsaj malo potešiti njegovo lakoto. Šele potem mu lahko spregovorim o tem, da ga Bog ljubi« (T. Kerin). Podobno ravnajo vsi misijonarji, kakor je počel naš Gospod. Cerkev v misijonih narašča, pri tem naraščajo tudi njene potrebe. Med njimi so tudi nenehne potrebe po misijonskih vozilih ali delovnih strojih.

ST. CHRISTOPHER - Reprobis went in search of Christ. A hermit began instructing Reprobis about God and the Redeemer, and concluded by saying: "He who would serve Christ must offer himself entirely to Him, and do and suffer everything for His sake. His reward for this will be immense and will last forever." Reprobis now asked the hermit to allow him to remain, and to continue to instruct him. The hermit consented. When Reprobis was fully instructed, he Baptized him. After his Baptism, a great change came over the giant. No longer proud of his great size and strength, he became meek and humble, and asked the hermit to assign to him some task by which he might serve God, his master. "For," said he, "I can not pray and fast; therefore I must serve God in some other way." The hermit led him to a broad and swift river nearby, and said: "Here build thyself a hut, and when wanderers wish to cross the river, carry them over for the love of Christ." For there was no bridge across the river.

One night he heard a Child calling to be carried across the river. Quickly he rose, placed the Child on his stout shoulder, took his staff and walked into the mighty current.

Arrived in midstream, the water rose higher and higher, and the child became heavier and heavier. "O child," he cried, "how heavy thou art! It seems I bear the weight of the world on my shoulder." And the Child replied, "Right thou art. Thou bearest not only the world, but the Creator of Heaven and earth. I am Jesus Christ, thy King and Lord, and henceforth thou shalt be called Christophorus, that is, Christ-bearer. Arrived on yonder shore, plant thy staff in the ground, and in token of My power and might tomorrow it shall bear leaves and blossoms."

And the Child disappeared. On reaching the other shore, Christophorus stuck his staff into the ground, and behold, it budded forth leaves and blossoms. Then, kneeling, he promised the Lord to serve Him ever faithfully. He kept his promise, and thenceforth became a zealous preacher of the Gospel, converting many to the Faith. St. Christopher is the patron of travelers, especially motorists, and is invoked in storms and tempests.
